EDMONTON
HERITAGE
COUNCIL

Connecting people with the stories of their city

From its pre-history to the present, Edmonton has been a gathering place of different cultures, languages and religions. This cultural richness is reflected in the many historical and cultural organizations founded and supported by citizens of the region.

As a not-for-profit organization, EHC raises the profile and place of heritage in Edmonton and the surrounding region. We strive to be a strong voice for the city's memory, an active link between citizens, historians, educators, artists, government and business—everyone who seeks to understand where our history meets our future.

CURRENT INITIATIVES

EDMONTON CITY AS MUSEUM PROJECT

ECAMP animates city spaces through tours of local curiosities, participatory public exhibitions, and residency projects.

ECAMP asks Edmonton to provide their take on local history to be gathered on the web. citymuseumedmonton.ca preserves and presents Edmonton's unique urban heritage: the people, places, things and moments that make us who we are.

EDMONTON HERITAGE NETWORK

The Edmonton Heritage Network facilitates connections between Edmonton's heritage stakeholders. It aims to break down silos, build relationships between heritage organizations and facilitate projects that respond to shared needs.

EDMONTON MAPS HERITAGE

Edmonton Maps Heritage is an active and ongoing "mapping" of the city's heritage landmarks and sights of significance. Through public engagement, it continually adds more content on Edmonton's heritage and culture.

THE EDMONTON HERITAGE COUNCIL:

- Provides a forum for discussing and sharing heritage issues
- Advocates for vibrant heritage programs
- Is a significant voice for Edmonton's heritage community
- Promotes recognized heritage principles and practices

HERITAGE INVESTMENT GRANTS

The Heritage Investment Grants program invests in the passion, creativity, and professionalism of Edmontonians with the goal of strengthening heritage citywide.

EHC administers, on behalf of the City of Edmonton, the Heritage Investment Grants Program which offers support and opportunities for collaboration that ensure that Edmonton's story is told in innovative and interesting ways, with room for all citizens to participate.
